

MEIGS BLAMES HIS ARREST ON WOMEN'S FEUD

Attorney Charged With $25
Embezzlement From St.
Louis Humane Society.

MRS. CALKINS COMPLAINS

He Says He Was Told to Keep Amount for Legal Services.

DISCUSSED IN MEETING

Declares No Complaint Until Fight Over Election of Officers Began.

Rogier G. Meigs, lawyer and former president of the St. Louis Humane Society, charged in a warrant issued Thursday with embezzlement by bailor of $25 belonging to the society, will be tried Saturday in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Meigs was in court when the warrant was returned, and after furnishing $300 bond, with Louis Miller as bondsman, asked that the earliest date possible be set for the hearing. He declares that the charge is due to factional animosity between himself and Mrs. Mary Calkins, president of the society, with other officers of the society, is named as a witness.

The charge relates to a check for $25, payable to the St. Louis Humane Society, signed by Charles H. Kunst of 1222 Allen avenue and given by Kunst to Meigs.

The attorney admits that, as charged in the warrant, he cashed the check and kept the money, but says that he was told by Mrs. Calkins to do so, and that he applied the sum to the society's credit in his account for legal services rendered.

Kunst, a contractor, is named as a witness. The other witnesses include Mrs. Calkins, as her husband, H. B. Calkins, Mrs. Louisa Regensburg, William T. Dougherty, John F. Ryan and Edwin Morgan, all members of the society.

Other Prosecutors Refused.

The check was dated Oct. 6, 1904, and the statute of limitations would accordingly have been made the issuance of a warrant impossible after Friday. Meigs says application was made over the complainants to former Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton, but that he refused to issue a warrant, and that Richard F. Johnson, Assistant Circuit Attorney, also refused to issue an information or lay the matter before the grand jury.

The warrant was issued by Nelson Thomas, appointed to succeed Mr. Dalton.

"Dougherty and I visited Kunst's stable a year ago in the course of our investigation of the treatment and care given horses," said Meigs Thursday.

"Before we left, Kunst said: 'I like your society, and I want to do something for it.' Then he wrote out a check for $25, signed it and said: 'You can make that payable to whomever you wish.'"

"I hesitated about accepting it, then told him to make it payable to the society, and he did. At the next meeting of the society I told the members of the check, but no action was taken about it. I carried it around in my pocket several days."

Told to Keep Check.

"When Mrs. Calkins and I went to the Delmar Garden neighborhood to get evidence against bullfighters, I asked her again about the check."

"You keep it for your services to the society," she said, and I cashed the check next day and credited the society with $25 on my account."

"No more was said about it until after the factional fight arose in the city last January over the election of officers. Then it was brought up, and I have known that Mrs. Calkins and her friends have been trying to make me trouble about it."

SUNNY DAYS TO CONTINUE

St. Louis Assured Prolongation of Ideal
Autumn Weather.

De-lightful autumn weather is to keep on a round at St. Louis. The skies will continue fair and there is not going to be enough change of temperature to quibble about. The official forecast: "Fair tonight and Friday; but little change in temperature; variable winds." Unsettled weather and showers are the rule in Florida and along the coast. There has also been rain on the north California coast, in Washington and Oregon.

The weather is cooler in the Upper Mississippi Valley and on the lakes, and warmer in the New England and Middle Atlantic States. The changes elsewhere are not marked.

SCHOOL FUNDS SHORT $75,000; ARREST MADE

N. C. Dougherty, City Superintendent of Schools, Charged With Forgery.

GRAND JURY INDICTS

Prisoner Is President of National Bank and Immensely Wealthy.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 5.—Newtown C. Dougherty, for many years City Superintendent of Schools, and one of the most prominent educators in the country, is under arrest following an indictment by the grand jury, charging forgery.

The arrest of Dougherty follows the most astounding revelations by the grand jury now in session and which has been examining the books of the Peoria School Board. Within a comparatively brief space of time a shortage of $75,000 was discovered, but the further discovery was made that the pecuniary losses have been extending over a long term of years. The shortage will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In order to cause the arrest of Mr. Dougherty the grand jury made a partial report at 11 o'clock, charging forgery. He was arrested shortly after on a street by a deputy sheriff and was taken to the office of the Sheriff, where he gave bail with Elliot Callender and his son, H. R. Dougherty, as sureties. The bail demanded was $2000.

President of Bank.

Mr. Dougherty has been City Superintendent of Schools for 25 years. He is immensely wealthy and is President of the Peoria National Bank, a heavy stockholder in the Peoria Savings and Trust Co., the Title and Trust Co., the Peoria Livery Co. and other concerns. He is a trustee of the fund of $175,000 held by the National Educational Association and is a Past President of the association.

"BUCKETSHOP" INQUIRY TURNS TO EXCHANGE

Grand Jury Summons Members to Explain Their Methods of Operation.

SOME ARE AS EXPERTS

Circuit Attorney Sager Says
Others Called Have Incriminating Knowledge.

AFTER "MEN HIGH UP"

Indictments Likely, Says Sager, as Result of Inquiry Now On.

The grand jury Thursday afternoon began the examination of officers and members of the Merchants' Exchange, which is the most important development in the inquiry into "bucketshops."

Indictments against "men high up" are expected by Circuit Attorney Sager as a result.

Among the witnesses summoned is Thomas H. Francis of the brokerage firm of D. R. Francis, Bro. & Co. Subpoenas also were issued for Moses Fraley, a well-known member of the Merchants' Exchange; George Morgan, secretary of the Exchange; Henry Collins of 406 Olive street, and Al Wagnen, who is said to be connected with the Cella Commission Co. They will appear before the grand jury Thursday afternoon. It is understood that they are wanted to give expert testimony.

"Will the inquiry involve the methods of the Merchants' Exchange?" Mr. Sager was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"I can make no statement as to that," he answered.

"Are the witnesses supposed to have expert knowledge on bucketshops?"

"Yes, and perhaps some of them have criminal knowledge. That is what the grand jury wants to find out."

"There is extreme probability of indictments as the result of this investigation, some of them against men high up."

It is understood that some of those summoned will be asked only to testify as experts, to enable the grand jury to decide concerning certain practices of the bucketshops. Others will be questioned as to certain methods said to be employed by the Merchants' Exchange.

While the legitimacy of many practices of the Exchange is unquestioned, the grand jury has been led to believe that other methods said to be employed by certain of its members require investigation to make the bucketshop inquiry complete.

The grand jury is now at the height of the bucketshop inquiry, and with evidence in hand on which several indictments are expected, is endeavoring, according to Circuit Attorney Sager to extend the investigation in such a manner as to avoid any just accusation of partiality.

President Defends 'Change.

Otto L. Teichman, president of the Merchants' Exchange, made this statement Thursday to the Post-Dispatch: "Inasmuch as there is considerable agitation at the present time in connection with the suppression of bucketshops, incorrect inferences may be drawn as to the relation of the Merchants' Exchange business to irregular trading."

"It is therefore proper to call attention to the fact that all transactions on the Merchants' Exchange, conducted under its rules and regulations, are strictly legitimate in all respects and contemplate actual delivery of the commodity dealt in, and contracts to that effect are exchanged between parties trading."

"It has recently been held by the Supreme Court of the United States that transactions of the Boards of Trade or Merchants' Exchanges, such as ours, are in perfect accord with the law."

Gov. Francis as Seen Under His New "Lid"

GOV. FRANCIS HID UNDER NEW "LID"

Old Companions on Car Didn't Know Him in Dinky "College Boy" Hat.

The new "lid" is all right. It is a fair, proper and up to the day to wear one of those dinky, soft and comfortable "college boy" hats with the crown smashed down and a little circular gutter formed around it.

Gov. Francis, leader in the financial, social, industrial and banquet sets, has been in the East, whence he radiates the things we of the West bow down to.

Gov. Francis lives at Maryland and Newstadt avenues, and the Maryland avenue cars run past his corner, and he is as well known to passengers and car crews on that line as the "oldest inhabitant."

Judge Taylor of the Circuit Court lives on the same line, and Monday evening at 7 he was a passenger. As he neared his corner he arose, and started to leave the car. Suddenly he stopped and began to look queerly at two men in a seat near the front.

One had a "college boy" hat, with a brim pulled well down over his eyes, and was reading a newspaper through the other passengers' heads. The other was a "college boy" hat, with a brim pulled well down over his eyes, and was reading a newspaper through the other passengers' heads.

He smiled and stepped forward.

"What Gov. Francis, how are you?" he exclaimed.

The man who had been reading the paper looked up and said: "I am well, and hope you are the same."

SCHOOLMA' AM WORE TROUSERS; TOWN AROUSED

Lawyer Told of Three Girls' Night Promenade in Eureka.

SEEN ON MAIN STREET

Young Men Recognized Them in Spite of Male Attire.

WANT TO PROSECUTE

"Mean Thing," They Say, Has Caused All Their Trouble.

Three suits of men's attire, misplaced on feminine forms, have caused the biggest social uproar that ever stirred up the 300 inhabitants of Eureka, St. Louis County, 25 miles from St. Louis on the Frisco.

It is such a serious matter that three young women, one of them a school teacher, who wore the three suits of men's clothes, went Thursday to Clayton, with the expressed intention of filing some sort of a lawsuit against a young St. Louis lawyer.

"Somebody told him about it, and then he told, and that made all the trouble," declared the young women, "and we are going to prosecute him for it."

"On what charge?" they were asked.

"Oh, we don't know; but we are just going to prosecute him."

The three young women are Miss Lillian Bacon, teacher of 22 bright pupils in the primary class of the Eureka Public School; Miss Lottie Votaw and Miss Beatie Votaw, daughters of W. A. Votaw, Eureka's leading merchant and president of the school board.

The three suits of men's clothing belong to Mr. Votaw and his son, Lorenzo, 15 years old, who is a student at Kirkswood.

Wanted Attention.

The allegation—it is not denied—is that one night recently the three young women arrayed themselves in the three suits of clothes, together with masculine shirts, collars and ties, and walked through the darkened main streets of Eureka from the Votaw home to that of a neighbor, a quarter of a mile away.

In confessing that they did this, the young women say they did only what other Eureka young women have done whenever they felt moved to play a real thrilling, delightful adventure.

But there are some persons in this town who are envious of a said Miss Lottie Votaw Thursday to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "and they have been criticizing us. And then that St. Louis lawyer, the mean thing, heard of it and told, and caused all the trouble."

"All we did was to put on the clothes and walk to our neighbor's house. My brother met us there and came back with us. On the way we passed a young man—I won't tell his name, but I never expect to speak to him again—and he saw us and knew we were not boys."

Father Saw Them.

"When we got home, papa was there, and so was Mr. Deansky, the blacksmith, who had come to see papa; and they saw us, and so did mamma, and nobody said anything about it, except that we looked awful funny in men's clothes."

But now they are trying to make something terrible out of it. I'll tell you what's the matter. A little while ago there was a dance. It was given in a hall over a saloon. We three girls were invited to go, but we didn't accept the invitation.

"Oh, but it made some of the people mad! They said, if it was good enough for them to go to it, it was good enough for us. And they thought ourselves better than anybody else! But that didn't make any difference to us."

"Now they are trying to get revenge. I don't stand to let them do that. I am going to leave this town. So there!"

MORTON IS FLAYED; MRS. SPRAGUE FREED IN POLICE COURT

Judge Pollard Dismisses Charge of Discharging Firearms Against Latter, Declaring Action of Higher Court of Felony Accusation Prevents His Proceeding.

FASHIONABLE WOMEN GAZE AT DEFENDANT

Dayton Street Courtroom Filled With Audience Like Matinee Crowd and Scores Follow Morton and Mrs. Sprague As They Leave the Building.

When Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court dismissed the case against Mrs. May Lillian Sprague for discharging firearms in the city limits, Thursday morning, Judge Thomas W. Harvey of counsel for Mrs. Sprague rose and demanded that the case be tried. He argued, or tried to argue, that justice to Mrs. Sprague demanded that she through her counsel be given an opportunity to question George Morton, general passenger agent of the M., K. & T. Railroad, as to the facts accompanying and leading up to the shooting, and that she be given an opportunity to show that she was justified.

The attorney charged clearly and unequivocally that there were indications that the prosecution of Mrs. Sprague in a higher court was not intended to be genuine, but was designed to enable Morton to smother the case, and prevent all the facts being made public. Judge Pollard refused to listen to the argument and dismissed the case over the protest of Mrs. Sprague's lawyers.

Charge a Subterfuge.

After leaving the courtroom Judge Harvey said to a Post-Dispatch reporter: "The Circuit Attorney himself has been quoted in an interview as saying that if the Court ruled, when the case against this woman comes to trial, that the facts leading up to the shooting are to be admitted as evidence he will move for a nolle prosequi, as he knows that no jury would convict her. That in itself shows how strong Mrs. Sprague's case is."

"Mark my prophecy. The felony charge against Mrs. Sprague will never be brought to trial. It is a subterfuge in the interest of Morton to keep the facts from being made public."

"The same thing was done in the divorce case. Mrs. Sprague was deluded into the belief that she would get her child and that things would be arranged so that she and Morton could marry, so that she and Morton could keep the facts from being made public."

"The same thing was done in the divorce case. Mrs. Sprague was deluded into the belief that she would get her child and that things would be arranged so that she and Morton could marry, so that she and Morton could keep the facts from being made public."

THOUSANDS SEE COAT THIEF SLAIN

Gray-Haired Man Beaten to Death in View of Shop-ers in Brooklyn.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A gray-haired man, later identified as William Henry Durand, was caught as a thief at the corner of Fulton street and Fulton avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon and beaten to death. He had stolen a coat.
A thousand people witnessed the assault on the old man, Bryan O'Donnell, his assailant, the keeper of a saloon at that corner, is under arrest.
The crowd saw in his attack what at first appeared to be punishment for the petty theft of a coat. O'Donnell's rage had carried him beyond reason, however, and the crowd, little suspecting that he had already killed the man, had forced him to resist, and O'Donnell had gone back to the saloon before it was found the old man was dead. The street was well filled with shop-ers and crowds going to the afternoon performances at the theaters. They were first attracted by the cry of "Stop, thief." O'Donnell had discovered his coat had been taken from a chair in the back room of his saloon, and rushing into the street, he saw Durand with the coat on his arm going up the street.

The old man started to run at the cry of "thief." A few men followed the saloon keeper and when he caught the old man the crowd yelled in derision at the coat thief. O'Donnell tripped him and knocked him into the gutter, then he kicked him to death.

DIES HOUR AFTER WOUNDED.
The body of Bernard Wenemeyer, a porter employed by Lane & O'Connell, grocers at 1127 Virginia avenue, who was killed by a fall Wednesday afternoon, is now held at the Morgue and an inquest will be held Thursday. Wenemeyer fell against a beam, cutting a deep gash in his head. He said it was not serious and refused to have it dressed. An hour later his dead body was found by John A. Flaherty, 620 Hall place.

"DON HATS IN CHURCH"

EPISCOPALIAN BISHOP TRUS EXHORTS WOMEN.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 5.—In the current issue of the Gospel Messenger, the official paper of the Central New York Episcopal diocese, Bishop Charles T. Olmsted opposes the attendance of women at church worship wearing no hats, and asks the clergy of the diocese to stop it. The Bishop says:
"Men are men, and women are women. They always will be, and St. Paul, recognizing the distinction, made a rule for the Christian Church by which that distinction should be marked in public worship."
"He arranged, for reasons that seemed good to him, that men should go or prophesy with uncovered heads, and women with covered heads, and that practice has been universal throughout Christendom for 1900 years."

ENEMIES OF PEACE TO FIGHT CABINET

Japanese Government in Peril if It Tries to Suppress Foes.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—In passing the peace treaty yesterday the Privy Council has clearly impressed upon the anti-peace agitators the impossibility of a refusal to ratify it. The energies of the latter will now likely be concentrated in an attack upon the cabinet.
Public demonstrations expressing peace treaty will cease, it is believed, but this outward expression of feeling will only create a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction, which, if allowed to grow, will swell the popular rage. Unwise resistance and any attempt to suppress popular opinion may, it is feared, give rise to acts of violence.
Well-informed people, while appreciating the wisdom of putting a stop to the war, are indignant at the half-measure policy of the Government, as evidenced, for instance, in the har-

DETECTIVES IN RAMSEY'S WAKE

Wabash President Shadowed in His Struggle With George Gould.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Two detectives employed by the Gould interests have been shadowing Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash Railroad, for a week. This latest development in the struggle between Mr. Ramsey and George J. Gould for the control of the Wabash became known today. It also became known that the Gould interests are planning to remove Mr. Ramsey as president of the Wabash in advance of the annual meeting next Tuesday.
Mr. Ramsey's friends say that he is prepared to meet this movement by the directors, and other proceedings in addition to the injunction proceedings at St. Louis are likely to be begun before the annual meeting takes place there. Just what these proceedings will be could not be learned yesterday.
Mr. Ramsey has been making his headquarters here at the Holland

House. The hotel detectives discovered that detectives were following Mr. Ramsey and so informed him. Mr. Ramsey said today that the fact he was being shadowed did not disturb him.
"It is true that you have been followed by detectives," he was asked.
"I have heard so."
"Have you seen anything to indicate that you have been shadowed?"
"We'll when you double in your tracks several times and bump up against the same man, you come pretty near knowing that you are being followed."
Mr. Ramsey expects to go to St. Louis in a day or two in connection with the injunction proceedings brought by him in that city.

The May Silk Sale Is Passing All Previous Records!

A GAIN and again we have increased our selling facilities and still we are scarcely able to serve all in the way we would. It's a splendid test of the true merits of the May Silk Sale—a test that proves the absolute confidence of the whole people in our every statement. It proves that when we quote a dollar value at fifty cents, the people come, knowing that they will receive it—rather more than less.

W E are building on the solid rock of kept promises—building for the tomorrow rather than for the today. That is the secret of the wonderful success of the May Silk Sale—a merchandising event that stands today the marvel of the western world. There are larger cities than St. Louis in America, but not one retail store in them can equal our record in such a very short space of time.

GREAT KENTUCKY HORSES COMING

Spirited Rivalry at Horseshow Between Blue Grass and Missouri Stock.

FOX CHASE IN ARENA

August Busch Will Have Pack of Hounds, 20 Riders
Taking Part.

A great show ring stable of Lawrence Jones, the Louisville millionaire, is to be seen at the St. Louis Horse Show. It comprises one of the finest lots of harness and saddle horses ever put together.

The opening night at the Louisville show Mr. Jones took the honors away from the splendid stable of Reginald C. Vanderbilt, defeating horses which have carried off blue ribbons in New York, Philadelphia, Newport, Brookline and other big shows.

In Guy Fortune, a magnificent chestnut, he has one of the handsomest harness horses ever shown in the ring. Guy Fortune, with Gladstone as his mate, won the championship pair class at Louisville, defeating Reginald C. Vanderbilt's greatest team, Amazement and Astonishment.

Mr. Jones also has in his stable Gladstone Lad, Clementine and Meta, Patrick, High Lanes, Beechmont Lad.

His brother, Southern Jones, has one of the greatest saddle mares in the country, Margaret Weissinger, who will also be shown at the St. Louis exhibition.

Past Horse Coming.

Another well-known horse who will be represented by entries in the St. Louis show is Gustav Pabst, the Milwaukee brewer. Among the Pabst horses are Castro, a magnificent big black gelding; My Dream, golden product, just so.

Ball Bros. of Versailles, Ky., probably the biggest exhibitors of saddle horses in the country, will come with the largest string they have ever shown.

Mat S. Cohen of Richmond, Ky., is another saddle horse man who will be at St. Louis. He has a large number of horses in the saddle ring in St. Louis.

Tom Black, Elip Burnett, Bob Hisey and other noted Missouri saddle horse trainers and riders will be on hand with their cracks, and the competition will be fierce between Missouri and Kentucky horse men.

Horses Go Fast.

There are only a few boxes left unsold and the drawing will take place this week to decide to whom each particular box will be awarded.

The Bridge Club has a large membership than in any previous year, and there has been a long line of people at Bollman Bros. yesterday and today selecting their seats for the week's performances at the Coliseum next week, beginning Monday.

TURN RULE FOR NEW LEAD

Mr. Busch has planned a novelty for the opening night of the show, which will be repeated every evening if it proves a success.

Before the grand parade of the contestants, a fence and four-foot gate will be placed at one end of the arena. When the arena gates open a party of eight-lad hunters, following a pack of hounds in full cry will emerge and speed over the gate and fence.

Twenty in Fox Chase.

In the party will be some 20 persons, including several well-known equestrians. Riding beside Mr. Busch will be two of his sons, Adolphus and August Jr., the latter of whom will be the youngest exhibitor in the show.

The pack of fox hounds are now being spruced at a stock farm near St. Louis, and the stables are out every day trying to capture a real fox for the event. In case the animal and an ensue seed bag is used, this will be the first fox chase on record to be held indoors.

Precautions will be taken to save the fox entire at least until the closing night, and the hunt will lack only the awarding of the brush to the one in at the death. As the hunt will cover only a few hundred feet this feature would necessarily be omitted.

A Water With Curative Properties.

Physicians and medical authorities are giving more and more attention to the unusual curative properties of Pluta Water, and it is in fact well established that this water which comes from the French Lick Springs, Indiana, is probably the most highly mineralized of any natural mineral water in the United States. Some of the most remarkable cures on record are attested to by those who have taken the waters, not only at the Springs, but on doctor's prescriptions at home. This constitutes one of the marked differences between Pluta Water and the common varieties. Pluta Water loses nothing in the bottling—others do. As a cure for digestive derangements, stomach troubles, kidney diseases, chronic constipation, etc., Pluta Water is now regarded as a constituent of a class in and of itself. Proof of this is the fact that nearly all druggists now carry it, not only in the 35 cent and 55 cent bottles, but in 15 cent bottles as well.

DYER SURPRISED.

Thinks Dr. Vernon's Appeal for Pardon Is Unusual.

The application for a pardon made by Dr. J. B. Vernon, who was convicted of bribery in connection with the purchase of postoffice sites in Missouri, is not looked upon kindly by Col. D. P. Joyce, United States District Attorney.

"It is an unusual proceeding," said Col. Joyce, "for a man to ask a pardon while he is still fighting his case in the courts. The proper thing for him to have done, I should think, would have been to dismiss his appeal and then seek pardon. I have not received the papers from Washington, but I shall take the usual statement of fact to the Department as is customary in these cases."

ACTRESS SEEKS DIVORCE.

Judge Sale of Circuit Court took under advisement Thursday the divorce case of Little M. Cohen against Charles H. Cohen, sought on the ground of drunkenness. The plaintiff is an actress and singer, appearing last year with Rogers Brothers and the Castle Square Opera. She is playing in a new piece, "Rose of the Alhambra," which opens in New York next week. Mrs. Cohen is the daughter of John M. Hudson of 419 North Leffingwell avenue. Cohen did not appear to defend the suit, but an attorney was present for him.

St. Louis "Fair Play" Store Recommends Gold Stamps To All!

When a store like this makes a statement like the above you can bet it's because we know what we're talking about! We've gone deep into the matter and unqualifiedly recommend and GUARANTEE GOLD STAMPS as the fairest of all! Because they permit you to choose your premium; because they have a cash value; because they offer premiums from 100 stamps up; because their premiums are marked the lowest; because a filled book is the same as $3 in cash, etc. Don't compare Gold Stamps with ordinary Trading Stamps; they're not in the same class!

ADELIN DUNLAP BEWAILS HER FATE

"Athletic Girl" of "College Widow" Company Misses Gymnasium Invitation.

ADELIN DUNLAP.

One of the first things that happened to the young footballists of "The College Widow" company after they reached St. Louis was the receipt of a cordial invitation from the Missouri Athletic Club to visit the club quarters and enjoy its facilities for keeping themselves in physical trim during the play season.

The invitation was gratefully accepted, and Fred Trussell, the half-back hero of the college comedy, Dan Baker, the trainer, Hale Norcross, the coach, Ernest B. Carr, who plays "St. Louis" in the center rush, and others have been steady visitors at the "A. C.'s" rooms since that time. Wherefore it happens that Adeline Dunlap, the athletic girl of the Widow cast, bewails her fate.

"In the play," says the young woman, whose sunburned neck and arms, as revealed by an evening gown, make one of the production's incidental hits, "I have a line—'O, I wish I was a boy.' Well, that's the way I feel now, because, being a girl, I am left out of all this Missouri Athletic Club fun. And I wish also that St. Louis women had an athletic club of their own, as have the women of Chicago and New York. In both cities I was invited to visit their club quarters and had a great time there. I'm really athletic, of the stage as well as on. Fencing is my favorite exercise, and I flatter myself I'm pretty good with the foil. But here it's the boys of the company who are in luck, and I'll have to content myself with a 'constitution' and a bit of calisthenics, I guess."

DEATH AND PANIC IN COURTHOUSE

Two Killed and One Hurt by Explosion of Gas in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—Two men were killed and one injured in Hamilton County's great stone courthouse yesterday afternoon because of the head jarring hunting for a gas leak with a lighted match. In the ensuing panic thousands of people fled from the building, a number of others were more or less hurt. Considerable damage was done to the structure.

A quantity of gas had accumulated under the floor of the County Clerk's office, beneath it is the office of the County Commissioners, where the dead men were employed. They were Chief Clerk George Zimmerman, aged 50, and Russell Blair, aged 22, assistant clerk of the Board of County Commissioners. Both were prominent in Republican politics. Deputy Sheriff George Kleeman was cut by flying pieces of plaster and shovels of gas.

The force of the explosion rocked the entire courthouse and jail, which occupies a whole block. The sound of the explosion was heard for blocks. The courthouse was filled with a blinding cloud of dust and the smell of escaping gas was almost overpowering.

In the panic clerks rushed wildly from their offices into the corridors; judges quit their benches and witnesses made mad dives for the nearest exits.

The gas, which had been leaking for three years, had gathered in the ceiling over the office of the County Commissioners.

Russell Blair was engaged to a Miss Buckingham of Miamiville. Wedding invitations were mailed only Tuesday. The wedding was to have been solemnized Oct. 18.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes. "First in everything."

IS GOMEZ TO INCITE REVOLT?

Cuban General Said to Be Seeking American Money for Revolution.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—It is reported here that Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez, former Liberal candidate for President of Cuba, is in the United States to raise money with which to finance a revolution in Cuba.

Gen. Gomez's coming is thought to be a direct outgrowth of present political conditions in Cuba. In New York City there is a group of financiers who are willing at times to put up really substantial sums for the maintenance of a revolutionary movement on the bare chance of its being successful and their being able to dominate the new government that would result. It is to this crowd that Gen. Gomez expects to appeal.

He will also appeal to Cubans resident in the United States. They are susceptible to the impassioned arguments such as Gomez can make, and under the belief that freedom is menaced in the island, they will willingly contribute of their daily wages to the support of a revolutionary movement.

Good Military Record.

Gomez is a cousin or near relative of Maximilian and has a good military record, as records of that kind in Cuba go. He possesses qualities of leadership and has a very young following that would take to the bush at a word.

Gomez is likely to get cold comfort here. His statements, on his arrival at New York, that there exists in Cuba a condition as bad as that which existed during the Spanish regime are considered absurd.

MRS. LOEB HAS TYPHOID.

President Roosevelt, However, Not Exposed to the Disease.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Physicians in attendance upon Mrs. William Loeb, wife of the Secretary to the President, announced this morning that she was brought to Washington from Oyster Bay on the President's special train last night.

It is not known whether Mrs. Loeb contracted the disease at Oyster Bay, in any event the President was not exposed, as the Loeb's lived at Center Island in Oyster Bay, and the President's home is across the bay.

City Hospital Attaches Who Celebrated With Prophet Are Discharged.

Eleven City Hospital employees, including three women, were discharged Wednesday night by Superintendent Brown, the men on charges of drunkenness and the women for incompetency.

Payday and Velled Prophet's night are blamed by them for their trouble.

Those discharged are Miss Beasley, May Dillon and Mary Ganan, waitresses; Joseph Reis, chef; William Kelly and G. B. L. Walker, cooks; George Williams and William Crosson, waiters; Edward Westerman, a fireman; John Hurley, a stretcher carrier; and John McAllister, a coal passer. Two of the rigid rules of the hospital are that all employees must be ready for breakfast by 6 a. m., and that there must be no intoxication. Wednesday morning, the persons whose names have been taken from the payrolls were not at breakfast. The steward investigated, and reported that he found the men in their rooms, still shambling and unquestionably harassed by the lingering effects of liquor.

Their discharge was ordered immediately, and went into effect Wednesday night.

ARIZONIAN ROBBED BY TENDERFOOT

Knowledge of Wild West No Good in "Bad Lands" of St. Louis.

GOOD SHOT, NO RUNNER

Thief Who Drank With Him and Took His Roll, Swift of Foot.

It dawned today upon G. H. Sullivan of Kingman, Ariz., that the "Bad Lands" are not all alike.

Sullivan thought he knew all about them. Out in Kingman, as proprietor and head barkeeper of the Night Hawk Saloon, one of the nine oases in that thriving city of almost 200 inhabitants, Sullivan is wise about all that is going on. He knows every prairie dog hole and every coyote trail; and when he hears a Big Cat crying in the still night he is dead next that it isn't a lost child wailing of its loneliness.

But Sullivan now knows that there are other differences besides 150 miles between St. Louis and Arizona. "It's all right, though," he said this morning in the holdover, where he had been corralled until he could feel better. "I haven't got much of a kick—except that the gazo bar, I'm not any sprinter; and when he got to making tracks for the sand hills I was out of it. If he'd just stood up and scrapped with me I wouldn't have had a howl."

Met a Tenderfoot.

Sullivan had been telling the sad tale of wandering into a saloon at Thirteenth and Pine streets, where he found an affable sort of youth, who, out in Arizona, would have been called a tenderfoot. Sullivan was willing to buy, and the youth was willing to be bought for. Therefore they spent several pleasant hours breathing the bar, and Sullivan did not hesitate to tell them the fact that he had a roll and that he carried it in an inside coat pocket.

At 3:30 a. m. Thursday Sullivan and the youth left the saloon and started westward. They had some half a block and Sullivan did not hesitate to lean confidently against the youth. But suddenly the youth reached into Sullivan's inside pocket, grasped the roll of money, and, separating himself from Sullivan's entwining embrace, started on a dead run toward regions which seemed strange to the Arizona man.

"I couldn't run," said Sullivan after he had told it all to the police; "and if I could I couldn't have caught that fellow. And I couldn't shoot because, somehow, I didn't have anything but a pair of brass knuckles with me. I'll never be so careless again."

Sullivan reports his loss as one $10 bill, two $5 bills, a return trip ticket to Kingman, Ariz., a note for $100 and one for $50, and a lessened confidence in humanity.

EVERY MAN A BANK.

Cop's Idea That One Who Had $30 Was Thief Didn't Hold.

C. L. Holman, secretary of the Laclede Gas Co., is telling his friends a story about a robbery in Italian circles, the police report on which reached the secret archives of the office of Chief of Police Kelly.

The gas company employs many Italians, who make good wages and save most of them. As the story shows, they carry their savings with them. One of them had to go down into a manhole at Twenty-third and Olive streets. He left his coat lying on the street. When he came out he found that $30 had been stolen from his coat.

He told a policeman, who reasoned that one of the members of the gang had stolen the money. He also reasoned that the way to find the guilty man was to find $30 on him.

He arrested the whole gang and marched them all to the nearest police station. They were searched, but the thief was not detected, because every one of them had more than $30, either in their pockets or strapped around their legs.

Maryland Girl Dying Because of Loss of Appetite.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 5.—Suffering from a disease that, up to the present, baffled all physicians, a Maryland girl, 18 years old, died yesterday. She had been very appropriately termed "a loss of appetite," Miss Louise Cole, 18 years old, daughter of Joseph and Annie Cole, is in a critical condition at the home of her parents.

For more than two years Miss Cole has not tasted water, and has taken no nourishment, save milk, cream, and these in very small quantities. A week ago she refused to eat even the latter, and since then she has taken no material nourishment. All the doctors are agreed she is suffering from no physical disorder except a slight nervousness, and her refusal to eat has proved a problem they have been unable to solve.

HURT SAVING MAN.

Policeman Pulled Him From Team, Hit by Car.

While saving an aged man from being injured Policeman Silverman of Central District was badly hurt. The man stopped in the street to let a car pass, when a team of horses dashed up. Policeman Silverman, who was standing in the street, was struck either the car or the horses would strike the man, pulled the man out of their path. The street car struck the policeman, knocking him down. One wrist was sprained and a finger dislocated. The driver went on without waiting to see how seriously hurt he was.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 5.—"Drinking among women is increasing. One of the saddest features at the present time is the fact that so many of our fashionable women of the hotels use it. Drinking among men is decreasing."

THEATER SEATS WITH 500 BREAK

Many Injured and Bruised by Collapse of Tier at Mount Vernon.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Oct. 5.—Three persons were severely injured and many others were badly bruised when a tier of seats under the tent of a theatrical company collapsed Tuesday night. The accident happened toward the close of the third act.

The tier of seats on the east side was crowded to its capacity, and the 500 occupants were watching the play. Suddenly there was a crash, and a number of women and children were struggling to regain their feet. A panic was averted with difficulty.

Miss Mary Shaffer, chief operator at the local telephone office, was rendered unconscious.

ART STUDENTS' TOMB IS BEING BUILT IN BOTTOMLESS LAKE.

ESTES PARK, Oct. 5.—Five hundred feet below the summit of Mount Ypsilon a tomb is being constructed around the body of Lewis G. Leavins, an art student from Canton, Ill., who was killed by falling from the mountain.

The body lies at the edge of a bottomless lake, and it is impossible to recover it. Men can be lowered because they are able to push themselves free of aboutments, but inanimate object cannot be brought up by rope.

An inscription telling the young man's name and how he met his death will be placed on the tomb, but it is doubtful if anyone will ever see it.

DIVED TO DEATH UNDER A TRAIN

After Warning Shout From Yardmaster, Man Jumped Between Cars.

WITNESSES SAY SUICIDE

For Following Cars About Rutger
Street Yards He Had Been Cautioned.

An unidentified man was killed in the Iron Mountain yards at Main and Rutger streets at 8:10 a. m. Thursday, and the report from the Third District Police station says that the man committed suicide. All the evidence, the police say, indicate that the man deliberately threw himself under the wheels of an Iron Mountain train.

J. M. Dewey, the yardmaster, yelled to John Ruessing, foreman of the switch crew, "Watch that fellow, I believe he is going to commit suicide." A moment before the man had run around the end of a string of moving cars, and as the warning was given, the stranger grabbed the last hand rail of a boxcar and, according to eye witnesses, apparently threw himself head-first between the cars. He was almost decapitated and died instantly. For two hours the stranger had been around the switch yards. He followed the engine so much that Yardmaster Dewey finally told him to remain away. His actions were so peculiar that the yardmaster finally concluded that the man was waiting a good chance to throw his body under the wheels.

James J. Higgins, 384 South Broadway, saw the man go under the wheels. "He hopped onto the train," said Higgins, "and then dived between the cars. I am sure that his death was not the result of an accident. He seemed deliberate."

HENRY LEONARD PROUD OF FORGERY

Youth Who Got $359,080
From Wall Street Bank
Boasts of Deed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Henry Leonard, the youthful forger who secured $359,080 of securities belonging to Pearl & Co. from the National City Bank, is out on bond awaiting trial and boasting of the ease with the banks can be worked. He still maintains that he had no intention of committing a robbery and only wanted to show how easy it is to trick a Wall Street bank. Leonard does not do too much talking. He has been very light for his piece of fine work. He has not lost anything, and Pearl & Co. are pleased that they have their securities back without any extra cost and but little delay.

HURT IN AUTO, HIDES INJURIES

Boy Knocked From Machine by Street Car Fails to Tell
Mother at Home.

ACCIDENT AT MIDNIGHT

Two Youths Returning With Motor When Collision Knocks
Tonneau Off.

Hermann J. Williams, 17 years old of 4677 Washington avenue, is suffering from the effects of the shock he received when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a trolley car at Lake and Delmar avenues shortly after midnight. The automobile was that of D. A. Hill of 723 Clarendon avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Hill had been to the theater, and on their return Mr. Hill had telephoned to the garage at Walton and Washington avenues, and Bernard Maginn Jr. of 478 Olive street, had been sent after the car. Young Williams had gone with him.

Maginn was driving the machine and Williams was riding in the tonneau. Crossing Delmar boulevard the rear of the car was struck by an eastbound Olive street car. The auto was skidded several feet and the tonneau was knocked off. Williams went with it. The boy was picked up unconscious and placed on the car and taken to the office of Dr. Brokaw, where Dr. Myer-dick dressed a scalp wound back of the left ear and sent Williams home.

The boy went in and did not tell his mother, Mrs. Eliza Williams, anything about the accident. Thursday morning he was quite sick, and was troubled with some nose-bleeding.

FOLK SHOWS CLEMENCY

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5.—Charles Stucker, serving fifteen years in the penitentiary for murder in the second degree, will be released Oct. 15 on a commutation issued by Gov. Folk yesterday. He came to the penitentiary in 1924. The commutation was granted on the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney and the trial judge.

DIES ARISING FROM PRAYER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—While arising from her knees after her morning prayers, Mrs. Jane Watson, 55 years of age, fell, breaking her hip. The accident occurred at her home in South Park this morning, and death ensued 15 minutes later. Mrs. Watson was the widow of William Watson, and was one of the oldest and best known residents of Jefferson County.

LOVE AND LAUNDRY, PROMISES, PUT-OFFS, GET "PAPA" IN COURT

Recorder Keve Kordes of Vanderburg County, Indiana, Sued for $30,000 for Damaging the Affections of Miss Mendenhall of Chicago—She Gets $500.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 5.—"My dear darling: Send my laundry in the morning and kiss yourself a million times for me. I love you best and more than all. Think of me while I am away, and may God bless my little 'girlie' until papa returns. Nobody loves you one millionth part as much as papa. Good night. "PAPA."

And now "girlie" whose real name is May Mendenhall, 264 Indiana avenue, has sued "Papa," who is really Theodore Keve Kordes, recorder of Vanderburg County, Ind., for the sum of $30,000 just because he did not marry her. In Judge Gary's court it is said by the fair plaintiff that after a courtship replete with love and laundry, auto and aviation and promises and put-offs, Mr. Keve Kordes named Aug. 6, 1935, as the day of the ceremony.

She waited in vain for him to appear, and when, as the shades of evening were falling over the beautiful forlorn dash that I expect to make in reaching the pole and returning two years hence costs my life, the Countess will remember."

A new system has been introduced for handling your family washing by the New American Laundry Co. "Once tried always satisfied." Both phones. Twenty-first and Morgan streets.

Too much to expect. From the Catholic Standard Times. "Poetry," said the editor, "is a drug on the market." "O' indeed?" exclaimed the poet hopelessly. "Am I to infer that you pay drug store prices for it?"

Cataract of nose or throat immediately relieved and ultimately cured by use of "Boro-Formalin" (Elmer & Amend).

COLLINS DENIES HE PROMISED TO WED

His Answer to Miss Hubbard's Allegations a General Disavowal.

An answer, in the form of a general denial of allegations, was filed by Lewis E. Collins, a well-known business man, in Judge Taylor's division of the Circuit Court in the $50,000 breach-of-promissu suit of Miss Grace Hubbard against him.

In his answer Mr. Collins denies each allegation made in Miss Hubbard's petition, filed last winter. No date has been set for trial.

Miss Hubbard says that a day in December, 1900, was set for the wedding.

but that when the time came Mr. Collins pleaded that he was not ready. When asked to name a specific date, the petition continues, Mr. Collins is alleged to have told Miss Hubbard to "be patient."

The plaintiff says that she is and at all times has been ready and willing to keep her part of the agreement to wed, but that repeated requests at reasonable periods of time have been met with the same refusal from Mr. Collins.

NAVY OFFICE HERE.

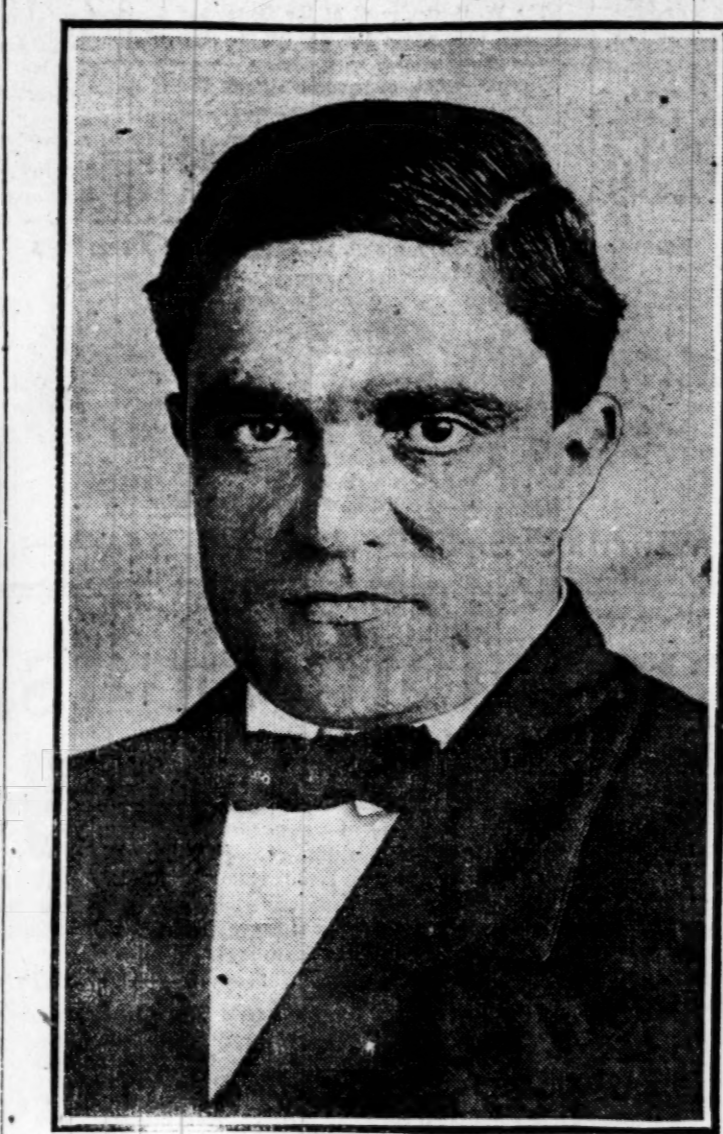

Permanent Headquarters for Recruiting for the Service.

A permanent recruiting office for the navy will be opened in St. Louis Monday. Lieut. M. H. Signor will establish quarters in the dome of the Federal Building and prepare to secure the enlistment of as many able-bodied young men as possible. This will be the first permanent naval recruiting office the city has had, though many St. Louis and Missouri youths have entered the service through temporary recruiting stations here.

The placing in commission of several new battleships, for which the Navy Department expects to ask Congress to increase the number of men in service by 4000, is responsible for the establishment of the local office.

Detective Hurt While Sister Reigned Queen

GRATIOT CABANNE.

QUEEN'S BROTHER HURT IN FIGHT

Detective Cabanne Attacked by Thugs While She Reigns at Veiled Prophet's.

Detective Gratiot Cabanne, member of a family prominent in society, is disabled as the result of an encounter with three toughs, which took place while his sister, Miss Julia Cabanne, was reigning as Queen of the Veiled Prophet's ball.

Cabanne, who is one of the most valued members of Chief Desmond's staff, and who has the capture and conviction of "Lord" Harrington, James McCann's slayer, to his credit, was detailed to downtown duty on Veiled Prophet's night.

General orders were out for the arrest of known criminals who were seen on the streets and for making suspicious characters "move on." In fulfilling the latter command Cabanne gave "twenty-three" orders to three men near the Merchants' Exchange, the scene of the ball.

The men had been annoying parade spectators by going beyond the limit set for parading, and throwing flour and pepper, as well as confetti, into the crowd along the street.

Cabanne Seized Men.
Just before Detective Cabanne came upon them, the men had jostled a woman, causing her to drop her baby. Cabanne broke through the crowd and seized one of the men.

The other two grappled with Cabanne, and one of them bit his right hand. He struck right and left and folded one, while giving the other two blows at severe. But the use of the detective's revolver was impossible and the three men escaped, although Detective Leo Killian and three policemen joined in the pursuit.

The wound in Cabanne's hand, caused by the teeth of one of the men, became more painful within a few hours, and was found by a physician to be infected. The wound is now being treated to check poisoning, which may threaten the loss of the hand. Detective Cabanne is carrying his right arm in a sling.

NO FIRE ESCAPE FOR HIM.
Manager of Chemical Building Will Test the Law.

The courts are to be called upon to decide whether the city can compel the placing of fire escapes on skyscrapers. It is the contention of I. T. Cook, manager of the Chemical Building, that the city cannot compel him to put fire escapes on the Chemical Building. Mr. Cook, who has been out of the city, was indicted by the grand jury last June. He is charged with neglect to follow out the provisions of the law with regard to fire escapes. Mr. Cook appeared in the Court of Criminal Correction Wednesday and gave bond for his appearance Nov. 7, at which time a test of the law will be made.

In regard to the Chemical Building, Mr. Cook argues that the fire escape of the ordinary pattern would disfigure this building and would be of no benefit to the occupants. He maintains that the Chemical Building is fireproof and that even were it possible for a fire to make any headway that it would be far better for the occupants to use the inside stairways than to attempt to descend by means of a fire escape on the outside.

USE MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Fled When Two Other Officers of the Concern Were Sentenced.

G. Louis Stearn, former President of the Merchants' Brokerage and Commission Co., a get-rich-quick concern, which operated in St. Louis in 1903, was arrested in Pittsburg, Pa., Wednesday night, according to dispatches received Thursday by Postoffice Inspector in Charge, R. M. Fulton. The arrest ends a pursuit of Stearn, which has extended into Canada and to a number of Eastern cities.

According to telegraph advices, the Pittsburg officials discovered that Stearn was in the city promoting a new investment scheme under the name of Sulzbach. They assigned a detective to go to Stearn's headquarters to identify him. The officer on the street met a man who answered the description and photograph he had. Grabbing him, the detective said:

"I want you, Mr. Sulzbach."

Stearn was too amazed to speak. He accompanied the officer to the station, where he admitted that he had been in Montreal for some time.

Stearn was indicted by the Federal grand jury in St. Louis in the spring of 1904 on a charge of operating a scheme to defraud, following the presentation of evidence procured by Postoffice Inspector W. L. Reid.

Stearn was arrested on the charge and gave bond in the sum of $500. When his case was called in November, 1904, he did not appear. The bond was later paid by the surety, John H. Vette.

After leaving St. Louis, Inspector Reid says, Stearn went to Canada. After visiting several cities he finally located in Ottawa, Ont., starting a brokerage business on a small scale. He had been under surveillance in Ottawa for several months.

The promotion of a scheme to defraud is not an extraditable offense. The co-operation of the Canadian Postoffice inspectors was requested and they reported to Inspector Fulton a few days ago that Stearn had left Ottawa and come to the United States.

Inspectors in Eastern cities were placed on his trail, which led first to New York. From there they trailed him to Providence, R. I., then to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

When indictment was returned against Stearn, indictments were found against Arthur McIntire, who was captured in London after forfeiting his bond in St. Louis, and William J. Peck, all were officers of the Merchants' Brokerage and Commission Co. McIntire, according to evidence produced at the trial of McIntire and Peck.

McIntire was recently sentenced to serve 18 months in the Penitentiary. Peck served a sentence of three months in jail.

The Merchants' Brokerage and Commission Co. advertised to do a grain speculating business. It received money in large sums, and it is alleged, invested none of it in grain, but used it to the use of the officers of the company. William Wilmerston of Preemption, Ill., obtained judgment. The United States Circuit Court last week against the company for $40,000 for money he sent for investment.

FARMER'S WAY OF COLLECTING BILLCalls for Potato Box in Notions
Store and Wrecks Glass Cases.

Ruben Goldberg, notions dealer of 843 North Broadway, applied for a warrant Thursday against Henry Peck, a young farmer living on the Columbia bottom road, charging malicious destruction of property. Goldberg alleges Peck almost wrecked his store Wednesday evening.

Peck went to the store while he was absent and his wife was in charge. Goldberg said, and asked for an empty box in which to place potatoes. It was given him. Then he lifted the box above his head and brought it down on the glass showcase, completely demolishing it. He walked across the room and smashed another case in the same manner.

"Where's Goldberg? I want to kill him," he shouted.

Mrs. Goldberg called to Robert Hill, a negro living across the street. The latter came to her rescue and after a struggle overpowered Peck. Mrs. Goldberg telephoned for a policeman and the farmer was arrested.

Peck said Goldberg owed him money and that he could not collect the money until he had his potatoes. The warrant was not issued, pending the hearing of a disturbing the peace charge in Police Court.

MILLION CLUB MEN INDORSE POST-DISPATCH PLAN

President Francis Will Call a Meeting to Act Upon a Report
From Chairman Teichman Recommending Adoption of Working Scheme.

D. R. FRANCIS, president of the Million Club, expects to call a meeting of the Executive Committee within a few days to consider a report made to him by Otto L. Teichman, chairman of the subcommittee to which was assigned the task of passing upon the ideas for increasing St. Louis' population proposed by contestants for the Post-Dispatch $500 prize. Gov. Francis gave out the report of this committee on his return from the East. It is as follows:

Hon. D. R. Francis, President Million Population Club, City:

Dear Sir—I take pleasure in handing you herewith several letters and other communications which I have received in connection with the object for which the Million Population Club stands.

In my opinion it would be very advisable to create a bureau of exploitation, agitation, advertising or whatever it may best be called for the purpose of carrying out the work as indicated in the letter of H. E. Lesan, which, as you will remember, was awarded the $500 prize offered by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. I cannot refrain from stating to you that I am quite enthusiastic on this subject as being a great means toward working immense benefit for our proposed Greater St. Louis, as I am pleased to call it. I was particularly desirous to have the recommendation that this work be taken up by the Million Population Club given prominence, inasmuch as in this manner a definite plan for the work to be done can be outlined.

It also occurs to me that among the many letters that were examined by our committee a good many worthy ideas and feasible plans were advanced and, therefore, such communications ought to be considered by the Executive Committee of the Million Population Club or the proposed bureau. The editor of the Post-Dispatch tells me that he will be pleased to furnish these letters or any information we desire that may have bearing on this subject.

Hoping that you may conclude to call a meeting of the Million Population Club at an early date, I am, yours respectfully,

OTTO L. TEICHMAN.

OTTO L. TEICHMAN.

CYRUS P. WALBRIDGE, President of the Business Men's League: I shall be glad to attend a meeting of the Million Club Executive Committee whenever Mr. Francis makes the call and shall favor judicious and persistent advertising of the facilities which St. Louis can offer in a business way. I have always been an advocate of judicious advertising of our city, and have devoted a good deal of time for a number of years past in efforts along that line. I have used the expression "judicious advertising" because I wish to emphasize it. Mere publicity is not necessarily good advertising. The work should be guided with as much care as though a private business was at stake.

BURGLAR'S LEAP
TAKES SCREENNegro in West Belle Place
Home Surprised by Sleeper
Who Awakes.

INTRUDER WINS FIGHT

Then Runs to Window and Jumps Out, Taking Covering With Him.

J. W. Vogelwang, at his office, 723 Holland Building, Thursday, exhibited an ugly gash on the side of his head as evidence of an exciting battle with a negro burglar, whom he attempted to capture early in the morning.

Vogelwang, who lives at 355 West Belle place, the home of Mrs. Mattie Williams. He was awakened at 5:45 a. m. by the sound of the burglar moving about. He saw that it was a large negro and that his trousers were being rifled. In his arm the negro had other articles of clothing which he had evidently selected to take with him.

Seeing his property about to disappear, Vogelwang jumped out of bed, but the burglar did not run. Instead, he showed fight and the two engaged. In the half light of dawn, for several minutes, then finding one arm free, the negro dealt Vogelwang a hard blow in the face, felling him.

The cut above Vogelwang's cheek was made by the burglar's fist. The burglar ran, carrying with him the clothes he had gathered, and he escaped through the parlor, jumping through a screen which he did not see and carrying it with him.

He jumped over the side fence into the yard of Mr. James Banerman and then made his way to the alley and disappeared.

NOTICED IT.

"Coffee gave me terrible spells of indigestion which, coming on every week or so, made me a life wretched until some one told me: 'as the coffee that I drank was to blame. That seemed nonsense, but I noticed these attacks used to come on shortly after eating and were accompanied by such excruciating pains in the pit of the stomach that I could only find relief by loosening my clothing and lying down."

"If circumstances made it impossible for me to lie down I spent hours in great misery."

"I refused to really believe it was the coffee until finally I bought a trial would at least do no harm, so I quit coffee in 1901 and began on Postum. My troubles left entirely and comfort, not did indigestion follow its use. I have had no return of the trouble since I began to drink Postum. It has built me up, restored my health and given me a new interest in life. It certainly is a joy to be well again."

WEDDING PROVES
OLD ADAGE TRUECharles Hardin Secures Bride
After His Third Offer to Her.

BEGAN WHEN 6 YEARS OLD

Two Efforts in Early Youth
Followed by Success in Manhood.

Charles Hardin was very glad he learned from a copy book when he was 8 years old that the proper thing to do, "if at first you don't succeed," is to "try, try again." He is also convinced that the third time is the charm.

He did not succeed when he was 8 years old in getting the promise of a 6-year-old girl that she would wait for him until he grew up, but he tried, tried again and when he asked her the third time he got her.

His persistence was rewarded Wednesday evening when Miss Irene Linkhart of 383 Lee avenue became his bride.

When Charles Hardin was 8 years old he went to school at Venice, Ill. Irene went to the same school. Charles became convinced life without her would be a dreary waste. Irene didn't know what he was talking about and almost broke his heart by laughing at him and running away to play with her dolls.

Irene and her parents moved to St. Louis shortly after that. It was five years before they met again. Charles was on his way to the same school one morning when he met Irene, who had taken her away from the trysting place.

They stood in the road and talked a long time. He told her he liked her very much better than any other girl he knew and asked her, if when they were both grown up, she would marry him.

Irene knew what he was talking about and she didn't care if she got married. Then she said when a girl was engaged it was customary for her to wear an engagement ring.

"You wait here," he said, "and I will bring an engagement ring for you."

He had ten cents and he knew where he could get a ring for that sum. He took her away from the trysting place very fast, but when he got back Irene was not there. Her mother had taken her away from the trysting place.

At the Fair, he reminded her of that engagement on the Venice road and she broke in on his tour to the plunk of a piano. He proposed a third time and the compact was sealed with a costlier circle.

Wednesday evening they were married by Rev. St. Gardner of 339 Harper street, pastor of the Lee Avenue Presbyterian Church, and after they have traveled a week they had their housekeeping at 251 North Twelfth street. Hardin is in the employ of the Standard Oil Co. at Madison.

POLK APPOINTS KANSAS CITYAN.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—Gov. Folk today appointed James G. Hollman of Kansas City as a delegate to the State of Missouri at the congress of the National Prison Association, to be held at Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 21-23, 1905.

F. G. ZEIBIG.

HENRY T. KENT.

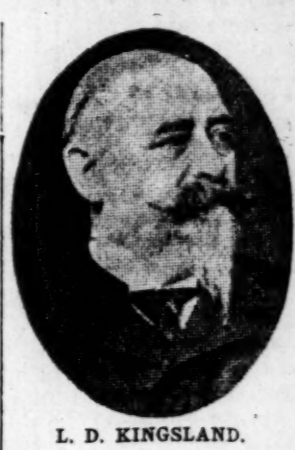

F. ERNEST CRAMER.

F. G. ZEIBIG, President of the Real Estate Exchange: I have heard many favorable comments of the feasibility of the plan advocated by H. E. Lesan to get a million people here by advertising, and I hope a meeting of the Million Club will be held at once to take action on the subject and arrange to carry out the plan as outlined. From talks which I have had with business men I am convinced that the time is ripe now for getting down to work on the matter, and I do not think it will be a hard task to raise $100,000 a year for giving publicity to the advantages of our city. Everyone I have talked with on the matter seems willing to contribute, and a combined effort on the part of the Million Club will undoubtedly result in getting the funds together.

HENRY T. KENT, President of the Civic Improvement League: By all means let us get the Million Club together and follow up the interest which has been created by the plan of advertising St. Louis so that we may have a larger city. The Million Club is really a committee of all of the different civic and business organizations of the city, appointed with a specific end in view, that of making the city rank in the list of cities of a million or more people. The plan seems to meet the approbation of everyone I have talked with, and if we get after it we will have no trouble in arousing enough enthusiasm to carry the plan through with a rush.

F. ERNEST CRAMER, President of the Latin-American Club: You may quote me as being heartily in favor of the movement as outlined by Mr. Lesan and equally as much in favor of an immediate meeting of the Million Club to provide ways and means to carry the plan out. Every business man appreciates the value of advertising in his business, and the project as it relates to making our city a greater one is simply a business proposition and a good one. We would have no difficulty in getting the necessary funds and an active, aggressive campaign right now will undoubtedly result in benefits far beyond what one might expect on casual examination of the proposition.

L. D. KINGSLAND.

OTTO L. TEICHMAN.

FESTUS J. WADE.

L. D. KINGSLAND, President of the Manufacturers' Association: As a member of the Million Club Executive Committee and a member of the sub-committee which was assigned the task of passing upon the ideas for increasing St. Louis' population proposed by contestants for the Post-Dispatch prize of $500 to H. E. Lesan, whose scheme is the advertising of St. Louis, I am a warm advocate of carrying out the prize scheme through the agency of the Million Club. I hope that the Executive Committee will be called to a meeting by Gov. Francis and that it will then resolve to carry out this advertising plan. There will be no difficulty in securing all the money that is needed to pay for the advertising and cover the expenses of a bureau to take care of it.

OTTO L. TEICHMAN, President of the Merchants' Exchange: The Post-Dispatch prize plan for increasing the population of St. Louis to a million by advertising should be put into early operation through the Million Club, which is the proper organization to undertake the work. The club should establish a bureau, in charge of a competent man and carry out as much of the plan of the prize winner, H. E. Lesan, as seems wise to the gentlemen who shall be charged with directing the work. This is the time and there should be no difficulty about securing sufficient money for the work. I have urged upon Gov. Francis the calling of a meeting of the Million Club Executive Committee and hope to see the call issued in a few days.

FESTUS J. WADE: The advertising plan is a good one. I believe that advertising St. Louis would be of great benefit, and when the Million Club has officially indorsed the plan and prepared to carry it out I have a suggestion to make which should provide a sufficient fund without calling upon the over-burdened business men of St. Louis for all of the needed money. I believe the only obstacle to the successful working out of the advertising plan will be found to be the indisposition of merchants to contribute at this time, and with my plan for raising the money this one obstacle will be overcome.

Murphysboro.

Back in Murphysboro (Ill.) Jail after a day's liberty, Mary Edwards, Emma Bell and Marie Montell, negroes, charged with highway robbery, are in iron cells, while workmen are repairing the grating of the women's room, from which they escaped by digging away mortar while they sang to drown the noise of their work.

"Neath the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" was the selection with which the women excoriated their voices and won the praise of Jail attendants and passing citizens on the Murphysboro public square. All the time their hands were busy digging away mortar from the window of the cell.

The back of a metal half-brush, from which the women had pulled the brittle, proved a good tool.

Used Hair Brush.

While one wielded the brush the others worked with their hands until two bushels of bricks and mortar had been taken out and it took only a pull all together to jerk two of the bars out of place. This was Tuesday night, and a rope of bedclothes hanging out of the window the next morning told the story of the escape.

The trail which Sheriff John Thorp and two deputies soon struck led to Carbonale, nine miles south, where the women had been arrested two months before on the charge of robbing William Fisher, a veteran, at a soldiers' reunion.

The Sheriff and Deputies Robertson and Stivers caught the trio in Carbonale, the negroes having walked the trail to that place.

They have not renewed their vocal efforts since their return to Jail.

Diamonds.

Mrs. Suzanne S. Adams of 4900 Fountain avenue, who was a guest at the Velled Prophet's ball, but not a patron of honor, is today wearing proudly the fleur-de-lis chain and locket, the gift of the Velled Prophet to the matrons who sat on his left.

Mrs. Adams was presented with the gift by Mrs. D. C. Bunton of 1616 Laclede boulevard who thus evinced her gratitude for the return of her prized diamond crescent, worth $300, which she lost and Mrs. Adams found, at the Velled Prophet's ball.

Mrs. Bunton valued highly the souvenir of the Prophet and for that reason gave it to Mrs. Adams as a good luck charm.

Found Heirloom.

The crescent is an heirloom in the Bunton family and contains nine large diamonds and many smaller ones. It was bequeathed to Mrs. Bunton, who is the daughter of John George Bunton of Massachusetts, by a much-loved grandfather, and is to be the property of Mrs. Bunton's baby daughter.

Mrs. Adams was among the throng that stood about the Velled Prophet throne. She saw something shining in the chignon of a woman's hair, and thinking of the return of the ornaments of the Prophet, wished to add it to the prophetic collection. She saw the woman's skirt and whirling about as the woman danced. She supposed that it was gone when she looked down and saw it at her feet.

She picked it up and realized that it was valuable. Shortly after she saw Miss Stella Wade dancing and supposed that the pin belonged to her.

Recovered by Ad.

Mrs. Adams made inquiries of the women who were there, but none of them had lost jewels. Men who saw the pin offered to buy it, but she refused. She understood too well the grief of the woman who had lost it.

Mrs. Bunton's advertisement for the lost pin appeared in the regular edition of the Post-Dispatch Wednesday. As soon as Mrs. Adams read that she took the pin to Mrs. Bunton's home.

Mrs. Bunton's baby daughter was found by members of Mrs. Adams' family. Her daughter, Mrs. Pullis found a brooch belonging to Mrs. George Bunton in front of the Columbia Theater a short time ago.

Alleging that an error was made in his trial in Belleville Circuit Court, Samuel Parsons has petitioned the Illinois Supreme Court to retry the charge of murder on which he was convicted in September, 1904.

State's Attorney F. J. Tecklenburg has received notice of the appeal from the clerk of the Supreme Court, and is drawing up an answer.

Parsons was convicted of the murder of his wife in East St. Louis. He contended that he thought his wife a burglar, and being awakened suddenly, fired on the next room. The State's argument was that it was impossible to shoot anyone in the adjoining room from the position in which Parsons said he was.

It is the benevolent intention of the Police Department to add to the troubles of Circuit Attorney Sager, by submitting to him the list of all the "under the lid" clubs with the request that he endeavor to have the charters of said clubs annulled in Circuit Court.

A Post-Dispatch reporter was informed Thursday that as the Circuit Attorney has been working himself thin trying to bring justice down on the heads of the tax-dodgers and the keepers of the bucket-shops that he will not welcome the suggestion of the Board of Police Commissioners, with regard to the prosecution of these evaders of the Sunday closing law.

It is said also that considerable legal difficulty would be encountered in endeavoring to revoke the charters of these clubs, as the charges applicable to them would also be applicable to the St. Louis University, and other clubs.

A Widow's Vendetta

THE widow of Paolo Saverini lived with her son in a poor little house on the ramparts of Bonifacio. The town, built on a spur of the mountain, seeming in places to hang suspended over two sea, faced across a narrow channel that bristled with jagged rocks, the lower coast of Sardinia. At its feet a cut in the cliff, like a gigantic corridor, leading between precipitous walls up almost to the first house, serves as a port for the Italian-Sardinian fishing boats, and twice a month for the wheezy old steamer from Ajaccio.

On the white mountain side the group of houses make a spot yet more white. They look like the nests of wild birds, clinging to the rock and looking down upon the terrible passage where a few vessels dare venture. The wind ceaselessly lashes the waves and beats upon the rocks, which it has stripped of verdure. The patches of innumerable rocks that pierce the waves everywhere look like strips of cloth floating and papillating on the surface of the water.

The home of the widow Saverini, set upon the very edge of the cliff, has three windows that give upon the savage and desolate scene. She lived there alone with her son, Antoine, and their dog Brisk, a big, gaunt brute, with long, shaggy hair, which accompanied Antoine on his hunting trips.

One evening, after a dispute, Antoine Saverini was killed with a treacherous knife thrust by Nicolas Ravolati, who fled that night to Sardinia.

When the old mother received the body of her son, which some neighbors brought to her, she did not cry, but remained for a long time staring at it motionless; then, extending her wrinkled hand above the corpse, she pledged to it the vendetta.

She wanted no neighbors to sit up with her and shut herself up with her dead, keeping with her only the dog, which howled dolefully. Crushed at the foot of the body and its tail pressed between its legs, the brute howled long and shrill, while the mother, leaning with fixed gaze over the corpse, wept silent tears.

The young man, lying on his back, his heavy mouth vent gasping and torn at the chest, seemed to be sleeping; but he was covered with blood—his throat, on his trousers, on his face, on his hands. Clots of blood matted his hair and his beard.

The old woman began to speak. At the sound of her voice the dog was still.

"Go in peace, You shall be avenged, my little one, my boy. Sleep, sleep in peace. You shall be avenged, do you hear? Your mother promises it, and your mother always kept her word, as you will know." And gently she leaned forward and pressed her cold lips to the dead face.

Then Brisk began to whine with a monotonous, heart-rending, terrible sound.

They remained thus, the woman and the dog, until morning.

Antoine Saverini was buried the next day, and soon his name was heard no more in Bonifacio.

He had left neither brothers nor near cousins. No man was there to take up the vendetta. The mother alone thought of it, day and night.

Across the strait she saw, from morning to night, a white spot on the coast. It was a little village, Longorardo, where the Corsican bandits took refuge when hard pressed. They were almost the only inhabitants of the hamlet, and there, in sight of their native land, they awaited the moment when they could return to Corsica. In this village she knew Nicolas Ravolati had hidden himself.

All day long would she sit alone by her window, brooding over her vengeance. How could she accomplish it alone, infirm, almost at death's door? But she had dreamed, she had sworn on the dead body. She could not forget, she could not wait. What should she do? She no longer slept at night.

she no longer knew rest nor respite, she thought always, seeking a means. The dog slept at her feet, now and again raising its head to howl mournfully. Since its master was no longer there it often howled thus, as if it would have called him, as if its brute's soul cherished a memory that nothing could efface.

But one night, as Brisk resumed his low howling, the mother had a sudden idea—the idea of a vindictive and ferocious savage. She mused over it till morning; then, rising before dawn, she belooked herself to the church. She prayed prostrate on the stone flags, imploring God to add her, to sustain her, to give her poor worn body strength to avenge her son.

Then she returned. She had in her yard an old oak with the head knocked out, which served to catch rain water from the eaves. She turned it over, emptied it, secured it to the ground with stakes and stones, then she chained Brisk to it and went in doors.

She walked up and down in her chamber ceaselessly now, gazing always at the very edge of the cliff, where the three windows that give upon the savage and desolate scene.

She lived there alone with her son, Antoine, and their dog Brisk, a big, gaunt brute, with long, shaggy hair, which accompanied Antoine on his hunting trips.

NESTY used to be the best policy, but all our great friends agree that the deferred payment plan is the most profitable to the officials of a company, their friends and Wall street connections.

The deferred payment plan of Our Own Insurance Company is to date all payments to policy-holders. All payments to friends, relatives, business and political associations of our officers are paid promptly. Ours is a strictly mutual company—for our mutual friends.

"But there is a more effective punishment. District Attorney Jerome should act at once. Indictment and a prompt trial will do more to help both popular confidence in the administration of justice and in the cause of good government as embodied in Mr. Jerome's re-election."

"What more can Mr. McCall confess? He has testified that the public statements of the New York Life are false. It is a crime for a life insurance company to issue false statements."

"He has testified that money was paid to prevent the passage of undesired legislation. It is a crime to bribe public officials."

"He has testified that the money of old policy holders was taken to pay the cost of obtaining new policies. That is larceny."

"He has testified that the books of accounts were cooked. That is forgery."

"Of course McCall and Perkins must and will go. But that is not enough. Their punishment should be more than public disgrace. It should be penal and Mr. Jerome should see that it is meted out, if not another indictment is found for the remainder of his term."

"But then what? McCall and Perkins are outside the Ryan syndicate. McCall's full confession yesterday was forced by the testimony of Auditor Maine of the Equitable last week. With McCall eliminated who would be life insurance in New York? The same man who is gas and electricity, surface traction, tobacco, the banks and trust companies, Tammany and other political organizations? Thomas F. Ryan would be everything."

"When it comes to the remedial legislation the most important matter will be to prevent one man control of life insurance—most of all when that one man is Thomas F. Ryan."

STARVATION LEADS TO LONGEVITY—WHAT?

An old man sat beside the fire, warming of his feet. "I've lived so long," said he, "because I never, never eat."

He thought of all his boyhood friends. A rosy, lively score. Of how they'd eaten this or that And softly gone before.

Sardinia. He was over there, the assassin. The dog howled all through the day and all that night. In the morning the old woman brought it water in a pan, but nothing more—not a bone, not a crust.

The day passed. Brisk, exhausted, slept. The next day its eyes shone, its hair bristled and it tugged madly at its chain.

The old woman still gave it nothing to eat. The dog became furious, bayed in a hoarse tone. And so the night passed.

Then, at break of day, the old woman went to a neighbor and borrowed a truss of straw. She then took some old garments which her husband had worn and stuffed them with straw to simulate a human body. Having driven a stake into the ground before Brisk's caulk, she tied this manikin upon it so that it seemed to be standing up. A bundle of oliveth.

The dog, surprised, looked at this man of straw and was silent, though devoured with hunger.

Then the old woman went to the butcher's and bought a long piece of sausage. Returning to her own house, she lit a fire near the dog but in the yard and broiled the sausage. The dog, famished, brouled about and foamed at the mouth, its eyes fixed on the sausage, the fumes of which drove it almost mad.

Then the old woman made of this smoking sausage a cravat for the man of straw. She fastened it firmly around the neck, as if to make it part of the straw figure. When this was done she unchained the dog.

With a mighty bound the beast seized the manikin's throat, and with its paws on its chest, began to rend it to pieces. It fell down, a bit of the prize in its jaws, then jumped again, forced its teeth into the cords, tore away some morsels of food, fell again, and leaped at it again ferociously. It carried away the face in great mouthfuls, rending it into strips with its sharp teeth.

The old woman mutely watched it all, her eyes blazing. Then she chained up the beast again, starved it for two days, and recommenced this strange exercise.

For three months she trained it to this sort of struggle, to this repeat won only by its fangs. She no longer chained the beast, but with a gesture set it at the manikin. She finally taught it to tear it, to devour it, even though there was no food concealed in its throat. She gave it the sausage afterward as a reward.

As soon as the dog saw the manikin, it trembled, then turned to its mistress, who bled "Go," pointing with her finger.

When she judged the time had come, the widow Saverini went to confession and communion one Sunday morning with ecstatic fervor, then, having assumed masculine garb, looking like a ragged old man, she made a bargain with a Sardinian fisherman, who took her, accompanied by her dog, to the other side of the strait.

She had a great piece of sausage in her bag. Brisk had been starved for two days. The old woman gave the beast a sniff of fragrant food every now and then to excite it.

They reached Longorardo. She went to a baker's shop and asked to be directed to Nicolas Ravolati. He had resumed his old trade of carpentering, and was at work alone in the back of his shop.

The old woman pushed open the door and called.

"Nicolas!"

He turned; then, losing her dog, she cried:

NEW YORK EDITORIAL OPINION

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The World in discussing the plans of New Orleans to entertain President Roosevelt by taking him to the yellow fever hospital, says: "Tired persons, who do not believe the President of the United States should be used, like a guinea pig, in clinical experiments, are beginning to express their misgivings. Yellow fever experts say that is no danger, and the experts may be right. Frequently they are. But, right or wrong, Mr. Roosevelt will go, and nothing will happen to him."

"Nothing ever happens to him. If fate had not decreed that he should die in his bed from the effects of old age he would have broken his neck long ago."

"It would not be astonishing if he organized a stegomyia fasciata hunt and strangled one of the bloodthirsty insects with his naked hands."

"The timid might as well possess their souls in peace. Whether Mr. Roosevelt is jumping his horse over a seven-rail fence, or knifing grizzly bears, or prowling around the bottom of Long Island Sound in a submarine, he is always on hand for dinner with a whole skin and a good appetite. Don't worry about him."

"No sooner does the Hon. William Taft reach home from the Far East," says the Sun, "than he prepares to visit the canal strip, whether he journeyed once before. Secretary Taft is a living refutation of the saying that 'large bodies move slowly.' He moves rapidly and effectively."

"A Mississippi newspaper, in warning the President against the danger from yellow fever on his visit to the South, says that at Natchez, for example, the first 'killing frost' of the year ended games before Nov. 10," says the Evening Post. It might be wise, therefore, when Mr. Roosevelt goes to New Orleans in October, to send Vice-President Fairbanks on ahead."

After detailing the startling testimony of John McCall of the New York Life, that more than $200,000 had been paid by his company in five years to influence legislation, the Herald says:

"Might it not be well for us to suspend for a moment the general chorus of vicious condemnation of corrupt legislators which swells across the country after these revelations, and sing the first stanza of that good old song beginning:

"Am I more evil by far than they?
"Am I not led them in evil's way?"

"In other words, are not we, citizens of the State, directly responsible for the evil and corruption that honeycomb the Legislature when we send them men whose first and keenest desire, as we well know, is to traffic in legislation for a price? The decent people outnumber that class 10 to 1, and when we neglect all our duties at the primaries, in the campaign, at the polls and during the session are we not directly responsible for the corruption and other wrong doing, such as is being uncovered now by this legislative committee?"

"The Times must indeed be sadly out of joint," says the Tribune, "if Mayor Van Wyck takes to lecturing New Yorkers about the iniquities of 'graft' and 'grafter.'"

"After John A. McCall's further confession," says the World, "nothing remains but for the State of New York to follow the State of Nevada and to debar the New York Life from doing further business as long as McCall is its President and Perkins its chairman of its Finance Committee."

Missing Railway Clerk May Have Been Murdered

WALTER C. YOUNG.

YOUNG HAD BEEN REDUCED IN RANK

Police Think That Missing Cotton Belt Railway Clerk Committed Suicide.

WIFE SAYS 'T WAS MURDER

Identifies Vest and Claims It Was Torn After He Left Home.

Walter C. Young of 1317 St. Louis avenue, who disappeared Monday night and whose vest was found on Eads Bridge, was not chief clerk for the Cotton Belt Railroad at Bixby Station, as his wife thought. He held the position of chief clerk until a month ago, when he was reduced to the rank of bill clerk. The salary as bill clerk was $80 a month, while he had previously drawn $90.

The police say these facts, which developed Thursday, strengthen the theory of suicide. He had secreted the fact that he had been reduced in rank.

Another development of the case, which, according to the police, indicates suicide, is the fact that last month he did not pay the regular monthly installment on some furniture he had bought from the Ziegenhein Furniture Co. It is said that last month was the first time he had not paid promptly.

The wife identifies vest. Mrs. Young Wednesday afternoon identified the vest that Watchman Hulen found as belonging to her husband. It was torn in several places, while she said that there was not a rent in it when he left home Monday night at 8:25 o'clock. She refused to accept any theory except one of murder.

The vest when found by the watchman was folded neatly and placed on the pier at the west end of the center span of the bridge. The wife does not attempt to explain how the vest came to be folded and placed where it was found.

Watchman Hulen and Collector J. Cox at the west end of the bridge identified the vest that they saw a man pass the ticket office 20 minutes before the vest was found. It was foggy, however, and they say they could not identify the man who passed. He was in his shirt sleeves. The police do not believe that he could have been Young.

FAVOR FREE BRIDGE.

The Southwestern Mercantile Association has gone on record in favor of a free municipal bridge. At a meeting Wednesday night at Jefferson avenue and Peralta street, a resolution was adopted opposing any bond issue that did not provide for a free bridge. There were only two opposing votes. Dr. L. E. Leubner and O. F. Karbe voting against the resolution.

The President of the association named this delegation to attend the Democratic Club's headquarters Oct. 17. Lon Holden, Chairman, Dr. O. F. Karbe, Otto L. Leubner, Harry J. R. Nicholson, Robert Fleckert, Emil Karst and Dr. Leubner.

J. R. Nicholson, William Hartig and Robert Fleckert constitute a special committee appointed to urge the deep water plan with the business organizations of the city.

EMBRYO NOVELIST HERE.

Girl of 9 Writes Detective With Murder Story.

The vivid imagination of 9-year-old "Tootsie" Leubster of 1813 South King's highway gave Detective O'Brien and Doolley a hard but fruitful day's work.

The police were told by Edwin Dunlop, assistant to the President of the St. Louis, Troy & Eastern Railroad, who lives at 1813 King's highway, that a man had been killed at 1813 South King's highway and his body spirited away.

The detectives were rushed to the place and after much effort traced the story to "Tootsie" Leubster. The child said she had repeated the story, but insisted that she had been told the tale by another girl. The detectives concluded that she had originated the story.

CONGRESSMAN GOULDEN

FINDS QUICK RELIEF THROUGH

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Hon. JOSEPH A. GOULDEN

Doan's Kidney Pills Cure St. Louis Back Pains.

Testimony of St. Louis People Proves Their Worth.

A bad back is a back that aches after every little exertion. Sick kidneys cause that kind of a weak back, and a kidney had back will never be strong and sound until the kidneys are cured.

Backache is really kidneyache—the aching of overworked, inflamed, congested kidneys. It comes right in the small of the back, where the kidneys are located. Sometimes the ache is heavy and dull. Again it changes to sharp, darting pains, like the thrusts of a knife. It seems impossible to stoop or lift, or bend the back. All night the aching keeps up, leaving the sufferer tired and lame in the morning.

Backache is a warning that should be heeded. It calls attention to the fact that the kidneys are giving out, that diabetes, dropsy and Bright's Disease are threatened. Don't wait. Help the kidneys at once. Cure them with Doan's Kidney Pills, the great American kidney specific. It is the one remedy that is recommended by residents of your own city.

MRS. H. C. STIFEL

IN SOCIETY

Notices of social events intended for publication in the Sunday Post-Dispatch should reach the Post-Dispatch office not later than noon of the Friday preceding.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of G. W. Hill, 1743 Preston place, Wednesday afternoon, when the marriage of his daughter, Miss Betty Hill, to John J. Bowman was celebrated. The house was decorated in golden red and pinks. The bride, Miss Betty Hill, was dressed in white, and the bridesmaids, Misses Lillian Hill, Mary Hill, and Miss Blanche Blevins, were gowns of pink and light blue silk, respectively. The bridegroom was in a tuxedo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. A. Bowman of Fredericktown, Mo., father of the groom.

The marriage of Miss Julia Frances Conner and Charles Edward Ballweg was celebrated Tuesday morning at St. Alphonsus' Church at 7 a. m. Rev. Father George Mahoney was the officiating clergyman. The bride was attended by Miss Clara Ballweg as maid of honor and Mr. Ballweg had James M. Mooney as his only attendant. After the ceremony at the church there was a bridal breakfast at the bride's parents' home in Marion avenue. MISSOURI DOCTOR RED TAPE VICTIM

Joseph R. Stolper Arrested for Wanting to Inspect Ellis Island.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Because Dr. Joseph R. Stolper of Missouri was not "shown" in accordance with his expectations he spent a most uncomfortable two hours in this city. His card reads that he is sanitary expert of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Policeman John J. Smith arrested the visitor from Missouri in the Tombs Court yesterday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct. Dr. Stolper said he had been seeing the sights with his friend, Henry J. Danenbaum, one of the leading counsel for the Missouri Pacific, and had reserved, as a crown treat, a trip to Ellis Island that he might inspect the sanitary arrangements of that place. When he arrived at the Barge Office a customs inspector told him it was not only too late to visit the island, but that it would be necessary to obtain a pass from the Commissioner of Immigration. Unable to reserve his disappointment, he exclaimed, in hearing of Policeman Smith: "More of New York red tape." "You must be one of those fresh 'red tape' guys," retorted the policeman. "It is red tape," insisted the disappointed scientist. Dr. Stolper then took a hand on his collar and found himself moving swiftly across "What you call Bowling Green, and as we turned the corner I was punched several times in the back of the neck," he explained to Magistrate Pool. Dr. Stolper was paroled in the custody of Mr. Danenbaum and instructed to appear for examination at 5 p. m. today. At that time court will have been adjourned an hour, and the court attendants recognized this apparent error on the part of Magistrate Pool as one of his little jokes.

COURT IS AUTOMATIC.

While Justice Is Away Money Flows Into Fund.

Justice J. Will Barron of Webster Groves has a court which works while you sleep or while you are away on business or pleasure. It automatically earned $2 for him and $2.50 for the City Attorney and a dollar or so for the Deputy Marshal while Barron was out Wednesday. Justice Barron had to go to Clayton. While he was gone Deputy Marshal Trunk called up a driver wagon belonging to the Eureka Springs company which was without a license. He created the wagon and the driver, Martin Coughlin, and took them to Barron's office. When it was found that there would be a wait of several hours the man wanted to know what the damage would be. He was told that the justice usually assessed $1 and costs, making a total of $2.50, and required the offender to take out a $3 license on the spot. Laughlin said the price suited him and he went on his way, and when Barron came back he found that his court had put $2 in the bank for him.

HAMILTON, COMING HOME, REFUSES TO TALK.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Andrew Hamilton and his family called for home yesterday on the Baltic. Replying to the Post-Dispatch's suggestion that an explanation with his dealings with the money of insurance corporations entrusted to him would be in order, he said: "I can only authorize you to say this in the Post-Dispatch and no more: It would be very unseemly for a lawyer to discuss his clients' affairs in a newspaper interview. So far as my personal affairs are concerned, I regard them as being of no public interest."

From the lumber yards of the Brown Bros. Co. and the Robbins lumber yards, which were destroyed, the fire spread into the residence district, destroying about 75 small dwelling houses. About 40,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

The homeless people were cared for in the City Hall and other public buildings. The insurance is about $400,000. Hulbert S. Smith, dentist; crown and bridge work. 446 Mermod-Jaccard Bldg.

BANK MISSES $250,000.

ALAMOSA, Colo., Oct. 5.—Developments yesterday showed about $250,000 missing from the Alamosa Bank, which closed Monday. The owners, Herman Schiffer of New York, and Abraham Shifren and Isaac Schiffer of Alamosa, are not here.
